ON CONCEPT & DESIGN

For nearly twenty years, the landmark Royalton hotel has led the hospitality industry with its thoughtful combination of cutting edge design and a traditional sense of luxury. The entire ground level of Royalton and the three penthouses have been re-imagined by the New York-based firm, Roman and Williams. Philippe Starck's large, mahogany doors remain as the hotel's signature entry, leading to a glamorous, textured lobby enhanced by the rich materiality and intriguing patterns of 20th Century Nairobi. Roman and Williams have created a series of iconic spaces that together form a fully integrated experience. Royalton celebrates its original iconic hotel lobby with the launch of its new concept, Forty Four, headlined by a world-class group of bartenders known as "The Cocktail Collective". The new food menu is ingredient-focused and celebrates the long-standing hotel lobby ritual of accompanying a cocktail or two with a spontaneous meal. Royalton's iconically cool interiors, its ground-breaking "Cocktail Collective," appreciation for simple high quality food, and a devoted following will make Forty Four a high profile, effortlessly-luxe New York destination.

Royalton is a luxury hotel with 168 guestrooms, including three distinctive penthouses. The guestrooms, designed by Charlotte Macaux, retain Philippe Starck's original vision and bold features, yet are updated to meet the needs of the 21st century jet-set. The three unique penthouses, designed by Roman and Williams, draw and expand on the theme of the lobby; each one is different and exclusive. "Royalton Blue" is present throughout the lobby and in the refurbished guest-floor hallways.

Royalton remains an elegant and beloved destination in the center of New York's cultural landscape, reinvigorated by a fresh perspective and Morgans Hotel Group's vision and commitment to innovation.
